COMMUNITY NOTICE

Re: Safety and Security Measures within Band Operations

Released: November 4th, 2025

We have received several concerns regarding the safety and security measures in place at the Wiikwemkoong Unceded Territory Administration Building, which include on-site security and a “buzz-in” process (an electronic access control system that allows the receptionist to unlock the door from inside upon the button being pressed outside).

Please know that these measures have been implemented with the best interests and safety of everyone in mind, Band members, visitors and employees.

The administration building is a workplace and service centre for the entire community. Maintaining a safe and respectful environment is our highest priority for the safety and wellbeing of all.

We have recently experienced an increase of incidents involving aggression and physical violence toward staff and visitors. We kindly remind everyone to be respectful and courteous when visiting our community buildings and workplaces. Aggressive, disruptive or disrespectful behaviours towards any staff or community members will not be tolerated.

Also, for the safety and privacy of our employees and visiting guests, photos, and video or audio recordings are not permitted on the premises.

Miigwech for your cooperation.
